To whom it may concern:

It is with great pleasure that I recommend Alyssa Wostrel. As a member of the New Mexico Biotechnology and Biomedical Association (NMBBA) Board of Directors and Chairman of the Program Committee, I was responsible for hiring Alyssa as an independent marketing consultant. My experience working with Alyssa involved enlisting her services and managing her efforts to plan and execute an FDA regulatory workshop for the NMBBA.

With minimal direction Alyssa displayed a high degree of organizational ability, independent thinking, integrity, responsibility, and ambition. She deftly conducted a survey of the NMBBA membership to plan the event in advance, selected the venue, arranged for and managed the speakers, which included a critical last-minute change due to a late speaker cancellation and facilitated the event on the day of the workshop. She then followed up by presenting a written, high-impact performance report to the NMBBA board covering the results of the event with a keen analysis of how the NMBBA might improve events in the future. It was due mainly to these efforts by Alyssa that the event was profitable; a first in the 20 year history of the NMBBA.

She is definitely a leader rather than a follower. She motivated long-standing members of the NMBBA board to do their part in assuring the workshop was a success.

She won the appreciation of the NMBBA board and the New Mexico biotech community as a most dependable team player. Her good judgment and mature outlook ensure a logical and practical approach to her endeavors.

Alyssa would be an asset to any organization, and I am happy to give her my wholehearted endorsement.

Sincerely,

Jess Stengel
